Chairman Andrews Scores a Victory After a Debate in Which

HE IS AS SILENT AS USUAL

The Public School Appropriation Increased Half a Million.

THAT NEW YORK TRIP WILL BE TAKEN

The Grade Crossing Bill Killed in the Senate by Vote of 23 to 17. THOM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

HARRISBURG, April 25 .- State Chairman Andrews covered himself with glory to-day by having the appropriation for the public schools increased from the amount fixed in the general appropriation bill, $1,500,000, to $2,000,000 per year. The House was practically unanimous for the increase, notwithstanding which there was a spirited debate, listened to attentively by the State Chairman, who didn't participate. The principal opposition to the increase came from Chairman Dearden, of the Appropriations Committee, who, while personally in favor of the increase, endeavored to show that the condition of the State's finances wouldn't justify it. Captain Billingsley opposed it because he did not think anyone wanted it. He was quickly corrected, but not convinced on that point by Captain Skinner, of Fulton, on the Democratic side, and Captain Evans, of Bedford, on the Republican side. Mr. Wherry, who is heartily in favor of the increase, took advantage of Chairman Dearden's statement of the State's finances to show how the idle money in the sinking fund might be put to some good use. Mr. Hall replied to this, but the remaining talkers confined themselves strictly to the merits of the officers estimated that the revenues under the new revenue bill would be between $11,000,000 and $12,000,000, that in making appropriations it would not be sate to count on more than the minimum. The general appropriation bill minimum. The general appropriation bill called for $7,000,000, and the House otherwise appropriated $4,600,000. The appropriations were therefore $600,000 in excess of the amount the executive departments considered safe. The committee, however, had worked with a view to the fact that the Senate would amend the general revenue bill to divert from a quarter to a half million of dollars yearly from the sinking fund to the general fund. inking fund to the general fund. Chairman Dearden told the House that the Chairman Dearden told the House that the Appropriations Committee had cut the aggregate of the demands upon it $2.60,000, something he declared unparalleled, and he warned the House that if it increased the school appropriation the Governor, who could not under the law cut this item, would have to cut elsewhere to the amount of at least $500,000.

THE FINANCES OF THE STATE. Chairman Dearden said the State's financial

Mr. Kratz called Mr. Dearden's attention to the fact that last year the estimates were $2.000,000 out of the way, and that the Governor paid $1.000,000 more than the law required into $2,000,000 out of the way, and that the Governor paid $1,000,000 more than the law required into the sinking fund. Mr. Dearden replied that his information then, as now, came from the executive departments, and was official. He was compelled to guide himself by it.

Mr. Wherry told the House he favored an increase of the subool appropriation, but he wanted the House to understand that the Appropriations for the public and charitable institutions down to the quiek, down to where it hurt, and the House had made itself responsible by approving the work. He called attention to his resolution for the disposal of the sinking fund as the sword to cut the gordian knot of financial difficulty.

"There are," he said, $2,686 77% lying idle in the sinking fund. This sum will be largely in-creased in the years to come unless the law is materially modified. This large sum BENEFITS ONLY THE FEW.

and the corporations having the use of it, and the benefit amounts to from $80,000 to $150,000 annually. Had my proposition been taken up to make use of these idle funds, it would not be necessary to pare down the money for charities to where it hurts, or deny money to the ties to where it hurts, or deny money to the schools."

After Mr. Hall had made a statement of the conditions and requirements of the sinking fund, Mr. Wherry obtained leave to print a reply in the form of a tabular statement to the effect that an annual income of $550,000 to the sinking fund, which includes the $550,000 required by the constitution, will pay all accruing interest and all the State loan as it falls due, and thus wipe out the entire debt when matured, beside leaving a large surplus in the Treasury. In conversation, Mr. Wherry said the new revenue bill, as amended in the Senate, would produce more than $600,000 a year for the sinking fund.

One interesting feature of the succeeding debate was the manner in which Mr. Capp connered Dr. Walk, of Philadelphia, who, in the interest of economy, didn't want the appropriations increased, but who didn't even think of economy when advocating what Mr. Capp, a lawyer, called the judicial salary grab. Colonel Bean, it making an eloquent plea for the appropriation, prought a blush to Chairman Andrews' cheeks by contrasting him with Mr. Dearden.

drews' checks by contrasting him with Mr. Dearden.

"The gentleman from Philadelphia," said Colonel Bean, "represents the executive departments in resisting this just measure; the gentleman from Crawford represents the people in demanding it." The round of hearty applause that followed despened the color in Mr. Andrews' checks. The previous question was moved while Captain Billingsley was trying to make a second speech in opposition to the bill, and it was carried with only six opposing votes in spite of his earnest protest. Then the amendment which Chairman Andrews had proposed was carried with a rush. The appropriation for schools will therefore be made $2,000,000 a year, for the Senate has already given a measure of indorsement to Senator Martin's proposition to the same effect.

BOUND TO GO TO NEW YORK.

A Final but Futile Attempt to Prevent the Centennial Junket.

IFROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.] HARRISBURG, April 25.—Mr. Capp, of Lebanon, made an effort this morning to knock out the New York trip. He moved, seconded by Mr. Kratz, of Montgomery, that when the House adjourn to-morrow it be to meet again Monday afternoon. Mr. Capp supported his motion by a speech, in which he denounced the George Washington excursion to Gotham as a junket, a disgrace, and several other uncomplimentary things. An effort had just been made by Dr. Walk, of Philadelphia, to prevent leaves of absence and resolud such as had been granted on the ground that the base granted on the ground the granted in the interest of the Pennsylve year of the pennsylve ye HARRISBURG, April 25 .- Mr. Capp, of been granted, on the ground that the absence of members was an obstruction to

Mr. Capp commented on this, and called the attention of the House to the fact that the absence of the Legislature for three days in New York was a much greater obstruction

Mr. Kraiz said it had cost the House $5,000, two ygbars ago, to spend one day at Gettysburg. "How much," he asked, "is it going to cost to spend three days in New York?"

Mr. Craig, of Philadelphia, a member of the Committee of Arrangements, said the New York trap wasn't going to cost more than $5,000, and as everything had been contracted for the Legislature might just as well go as stay. The money would have to be paid anyhow. At this point the Speaker stopped the discussion by telling the House the motion was not in order at this time, but would be at the close of the session, to-morrow night.

THE ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETE. The boat which the Committee of Arrangeents has secured is one of the finest in the all the necessities and luxuries, liquid and estly urge the large army of clerks, book solid, proper for such a trip. The Legislature keepers, school teachers, housewives, opersolid, proper for such a trip. The Legislature will participate in the marine parade on Monday, and has secured the grand stand in front of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, from which to view the parades on Tuesday and Wedoesday. Only a small minority of the Legislature is opposed to the trip, and only a small minority will stay away. A great effort has been made to expedite business in order to make both the excursion in honor of the Father of his country and final adjournment on May 8 possible. Chairman Andrews has been almost constantly in his seat holding members in line, and he and the Speaker both freely express the opinion that the Legislature cannot afford to stutify itself by refusing to go to New York now, after having voted to go and after having provided that the expense should be secured in the general appropriation bill. The question raised by nembers who are anxious to please captions and critical constituents is admitted by Hepublican leaders and by the rank and file to be a colid, proper for such a trip. The Legislature troublesome one, but at the same time the opinion is unreservedly expressed that it is right and proper for Pennsylvania to be so represented on such an occasion, and when it can be done at so small a cost they do not think that auyone has much right to complain. Besides, the money spent will not be an additional burden on the people of the Commonwealth, as the State taxes are paid by the corporations and the money at interest.

SETTLED FOR GOOD.

The question was settled finally by the adoption by the Senate this morning and by the House this afternoon of a concurrent resolution that when the Legislature adjourn this week it adjourn to meet on Thursday morning. Senator Delamater wanted to make Wednesday the day, but being assured by Senator Reyburn, the mover of the resolution, that the public business would not suffer materially, he acquesced in the original resolution. Senator Alexander, of Fulton, however, denounced the excursion as a reckless waste of public time.

When the resolution came up in the House this afternoon Mr. Capp moved to amend to make the day for reassembling Monday. Mr. Craig, is opposition, told about the preparations for the trip, and said the Legislature's ship had been assigned to a good place in the first squadron of the marine parade. Mr. Capp's amendment was voted down and the Legislature, when it adjourns to-morrow, will not reassemble until Thursday.

Mr. Lytle spoke strongly against the excursion, denouncing it as a steal, and Mr. Dearden considered it a waste of money and time. Mr. Craig received hearty applause, led by Chairman Andrews, when he said there were men opposing the trip who the records would show had actually consumed weeks of the session in speechmaking, and it was only due to those who had to stand the infliction that they be given the three days' vacation in New York. Colonel Bean, of Montgomery, Mr. Fow, of Philadelphia, and Dr. Gatchell of Lancaster, spoke in favor of the excursion. SETTLED FOR GOOD.

AMENDED OUT OF SHAPE. The Fow License Transfer Bill as it Now

Appears. PROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.] HARRISBURG, April 25 .- Mr. Fow's icense transfer bill has been amended so that its parent will be unable to recognize it. It has been transformed into a supplement to the Brooks high license law, and amended to include many features of bills in-troduced in the House early in the session, but negatived by the sub-Committee of the Ways and Means Committee of the House: The Democratic Senators freely charged to-day, as a result of the amendments, day, as a result of the amendments, that the Republican party was trying to strangle prohibition with high license, while Senator Cooper responded to Senator Rosa, of Bucks, that he ought to be more consistent in his statements of the Republican position. Early in the session he charged Republicans with the crime of trying fo force prohibition on the State, while now he wanted to saddle on them the crime of killing it. Mr. Cooper said, as he said early in the session, when the Democrats would not believe it, that the Republican party is not pledged to prohibition, but to the submission of the question to the people.

The Fow bill, as amended, provides for the transfer of licenses to the legal Leirs of deceased, and on the sale or transfer of saloons; prohibits minors from participation in the sale or delivery of liquor; permits security companies to go on the bond of liquor dealers; permits security to be obtained from any part of the county in which a licensec resides, and prohibits the licensing of more than one saloon to each 500 of a population in any city, borough or township.

OBJECT TO BEING PROZEN OUT. ome Williamsport Lumbermen Who Wish to be Given a Show. FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.1 HABRISBURG, April 25 .- A delegation of lumbermen from Williamsport is here in the interest of a Senate bill now in the House, which permits the chartering of the streams for 20 miles from their source. At present only branch streams can be so chartered and im-proved by dams, etc., for the forming of pond freshets to float out lumber. The bill grows out of the fact that on Kettle creek, in Tioga and Potter counties, a firm that owns a large section of hemlock timber land is practically shut out from market by a competitor who owns a small block of land on the stream below them, and who prevents their damming the stream to obtain sufficient water to float out their timber on the plea that it is a main stream. They claim his object is to make them sell to him at a low figure.

The question of their right to dam the stream within 20 miles of its course is in the course, but they desire to make the matter doubly sure by obtaining legislation on the subject. They are hacked by a petition signed by gentlemen representing five-sixths of the lumber interests of Williamsport. section of hemlock timber land is practically
